

Supplementary material

Jodkowska I, Trębińska P, Gortych RŁ, Farkowski MM. A persistent cough after cryoballoon ablation as an initial symptom of respiratory tract infection by Bordetella pertussis. Pol Heart J. 2025.

Please note that the journal is not responsible for the scientific accuracy or functionality of any supplementary material submitted by the authors. Any queries (except missing content) should be directed to the corresponding author of the article.

Table S1. Characteristics of the procedure

Pulmonary vein (VP)	Application time (AT)	Min. temperature [C°]	Time to isolation (TTI)	Manoeuvre
Left superior	240 s + 80 s bonus application	-40	+	Pull down (PD)
Left inferior	240 s	-41	+	-
Right superior	240 s	-53	+	Pull down (PD)
Right inferior	240 s	-42	-	Pull down (PD)