

Maria Sobczak-Kaleta, MD, PhD is an assistant in the Department of Cardiology of the Medical University in Lodz at Bieganski Specialty Hospital, where she is also a member of the pulmonary hypertension patient care team. She is a specialist in cardiology. She also holds an MA in psychology, obtained at the University of Lodz. Her research interests are currently focused on psychocardiology.

Adam Torbicki, MD, PhD, FESC is a specialist in cardiology and angiology, currently Head of the Department of Cardiology of the Medical Centre for Postgraduate Education at ECZ-Otwock, Poland. He is a recognised expert in pulmonary hypertension and thromboembolism disease and pulmonary embolism, a former president of the Polish Cardiac Society, and Vice President of the European Society of Cardiology.

Jarosław D. Kasprzak, MD, PhD, FESC, FACC graduated from the Medical University of Lodz and is board certified in internal medicine and cardiology. He is currently the Head of Chair and Department of Cardiology of the Medical University in Lodz at Bieganski Specialty Hospital. He has held various positions including board member and treasurer responsibilities in the Polish Cardiac Society as well as the Working Group on Echocardiography of the European Society of Cardiology and the European Association of Cardiovascular Imaging. His current interests include advanced imaging and pulmonary hypertension — he is a Board Member of the national Working Group.